Local Intermediate Authorities (provinces - provincial councils - NUTS III) enjoy a broad territorial perspective that allows them to have a global vision of the territorial green transition strategy.

Their commitment regarding the transition towards sustainable administrations, economies and societies is particularly visible in their actions aimed at promoting the development and use of different multimodal sustainable means of transport - notably for interurban movements and between urban centers. and rural and semi-rural areas - as well as in the sustainable management of roads, the renovation of buildings to achieve greater energy efficiency or the installation of renewables in provincial structures. The speakers will present and compare the different good practices of their administrations and exchange perspectives and prospective analyzes on the most efficient possible uses of the new Multiannual Financial Framework to develop innovative strategies regarding the green transition and new ways to help the private sector to achieve practices more ecological.
